Dear Council Members-
it has been a while since I addressed you at a public hearing, asking you begin thinking outside the box when working on the Comprehensive Plan in the face of ALREADY HAPPENING Climate Collapse.
Yet the majority of the council voted to continue with 'development and commerce as usual' and wants to allow ongoing urban sprawl and the development of farmland. Our GHG and climate goals are also somewhat lackluster. Just because we currently don't see the ecosystem that sustains us unravel right in our back yard, it does not mean it is not happening, and destruction and collapse elsewhere will also affect us here in Clark County.
To any of you who have children or grandchildren- you currently have a hand in making their future a lot less livable. You might think me dramatic and exaggerating, and it is true, the crisis is global, and what Clark County does or doesn't do will not fully decide the outcome. But it is YOUR duty to take all the local measures you can that keep our planet livable. Unless you envision a future where your children live in underground bunkers and eat food grown in laboratories, in which case go ahead, you're on the right path.

I'm just a middle aged lady who worries about what will become of her cats. Most everyone else has higher family stakes in the future. If I'm worried, so should you be.
Regards, Tina Barrows
