Hello Sonja,

It might be that the county should pay for the advertisement to those papers, to be sure the public has been informed. Very few folks have online connections to the county, and would likely never go on their website, unless they had a special interest. I think that the OPA requires the public to be notified via newspapers. It may be that an extension will be needed, as the deadline is coming up soon. Please see what you can do.

Good morning again. I've checked the papers from February 1 through February 9th and cannot find any articles. The press release was sent to the public on 2/1/24, and it's up to the papers if they want to publish anything. In addition, we sent out a large notification from our office to the public advising them of the Site Specific Review Comment Deadline. Thank you for your inquiry

Hello Sonja,

CCCU has been watching for this notice in the Reflector and the Columbian, but we must have missed it, as we haven't seen it yet. Could you let CCCU know when that might have happened? We want to be sure everyone has a chance to apply, if they believe a change is needed. Thanks for your help.
