I have worked as a remodeler and handi-man for 35 yrs and I find it rare that a garage is used for parking a vehicle but rather storage or a work/play area. It should not be considered as off street parking. That said, if it is, then there is a clear need for at least 2 more spaces, preferably 3 with guest parking. Most people have 2 or more cars in the household and will use up street parking as they need it. This impacts our entire neighborhood, making streets less safe for drivers and pedestrians.
