Comments:

First and foremost: All of this planning must be done with increasing our tree cover and canopy - or the climate change effects will not be mitigated. Vancouver, Camas, Battle Ground - especially Battle Ground have had substantial tree removal through the extensive development recently. Ridgefield also. It is incumbent upon you, as plan developers to create stringent rules that all developers must follow to replace and ADD to the tree cover in their plans.

2nd: Ag land is our history and the source of our food supply. It must be preserved and crop production in light of climate change must be implemented. Tree farm zoning should be a must and the amount of acres needed should be decreased to allow for more smaller areas of cover.

3rd: the railroad should not be hauling substances that require track replacement.
