Hi Monica,

Great to hear from you and thrilled by your enthusiasm for advocating for better green infrastructure adoption, that's wonderful!

Unfortunately our Portland event was not recorded, and while we do have recordings of our Green Roof Installation and Maintenance Professional (GRIMP) training course, I actually don't think it would be as helpful to your goals of advocating for and addressing policy directives. The GRIMP training is intended as a hands-on training session for people looking to work in the direct installation and/or maintenance of green roofs, more trade oriented with the goal of propagating best practice. That being said, we do have a number of training courses and virtual event recordings hosted on our online learning platform the Living Architecture Academy (<https://livingarchitectureacademy.com/>) that I think might be of interest and more relevant to what you are looking for. We have a variety of free and paid options there, everything from policy events that we have held, to more structured training courses on a variety of green infrastructure topics at different experience levels, as well as our Green Roof Professional training course, which is the more design and green roof overview focused accreditation. I would encourage you to take a look at what is there and hopefully you will find something that fits.

Of course, if you have any questions don't hesitate to reach out and I'll be happy to assist.

Best,

Blaine Stand, GRP

Hello,

My name is Monica Zazueta and I live in Vancouver, Washington and I'm on the Environmental Justice Coalition and the Community Advisory Group for the Clark County Growth Management Act policy/planning. I unfortunately was not able to attend the trainings and I was wondering if there was any recordings available?

I'm really trying to advocate for green roofs here in Vancouver, Washington and would love any help with putting it in our Growth Management Act policy work.

I hope you all had a great training. Looking forward to hearing from you all soon.
