I know that everyone's plate is full, especially with the new ruling that initiative 2066 is unconstitutional according to a judge in Washington and that makes it so something is going to need to be done about Wednesday's meeting with the building and energy voting, and I will start out by saying everything looks great, thank you so much for the revisions. Very very proud of you all. It looks amazing. I only have one edit per our conversation that Jenna and I had at one of our meetings last week about the term 'community members'. Sorry that I did not catch this before.

G2-P2

Policy currently written:

Improve sustainability and environmental justice by engaging with overburdened community members on new county-led planning projects.

Changing "community members" to "communities" emphasizes a broader, more inclusive perspective. While "community members" refers specifically to active participants, "communities" acknowledges the collective identity and diverse voices within those groups. This shift highlights the importance of engaging with entire communities, not just individuals, fostering a more holistic approach to sustainability and environmental justice.

Revised sentence:

"Improve sustainability and environmental justice by engaging with overburdened communities on new county-led planning projects."

If it cannot be changed at this time, I understand, but I also think it's important to change it now. My take on life is, 'you don't know until you ask'.
