I believe it is mandatory to set aside 3,000

Acres for farm land, and 3,000 acres for forested land to maintain the quality of life in Clark County. Clark County is growing and changing at a rapid pace, and our people need access to open spaces afforded by ag development, and forested lands. Quality of life is not only forested habitats, but those of open farmed fields and pastures for grazing animals. Habitat for migratory birds, insects, wild and farmed crops of flowers, small farmer ag development of food for those without land to grow their own crops.

Take away 6,000 acres of wild forested lands, and acreage delineated for agricultural usage, and we will have an environment that minimizes human quality of life that will never be return to that wild nurturing state again.
