Hello everyone,

In April, the International Maritime Organization IMO adopted a carbon tax to prod shipping companies into reducing the greenhouse gas intensity of the fuels they use. Their goal is to reduce emissions 30% by 2030 and 80% by 2040, relative to their 2008 emissions.

Unfortunately, no one knows what fuel is best suited for deep cuts in emissions.

Sails and shore power helps in the near term.
