Plan Land Use Alternatives

Comments

My name is Sarah and I live in Ridgefield. I understand that growth is a necessity and that we can share the abundant land we have with those seeking to make their homes here. That said, what I love best about Clark County, is the farm land and beautiful nature. I worry about these high-density areas erasing more and more of the natural land and beautiful fields and farms that make this place feel like home. I worry that soon Vancouver, Ridgefield, Battleground, Camas, and Washougal will be one big city with nothing separating them; we would be like Portland, Hillsboro, and Gresham in that sense..

Is there a commitment to keep as much wild space and natural preserves as possible? Will Clark County become another Multnomah County?

Please consider my opinion (which matches many of those who remember this area as small towns and farms) as you make decisions for the future. I'd love a response about the heart behind the comprehensive plan and what the Commission would like to see, in terms of a balancing of nature and development.

Thank you,
Sarah
