infrastructure is already strained—adding density without upgrades is irresponsible planning. The Camas-Washougal Slough Bridge is already a known bottleneck

Increased housing = exponential (not linear) traffic growth

Emergency response times WILL be impacted (fire, ambulance, evacuation routes)

Talking Lines:

“Where is the traffic impact study that reflects full build-out, not partial projections?”

“What is the evacuation plan if this corridor is already congested?”

“At what point does the bridge become a safety hazard, not just an inconvenience?”
